

Twenty Six 03

Twenty Six 03 is looking for an enthusiastic and creative Development Researcher to join the team and help create and pitch new ideas to UK broadcasters, global streamers and other platforms, as well as managing the company's social media content.

Twenty Six 03 is based in Gateshead with a London production office and has a successful track record of producing shows over the last 9 years for the BBC, ITV, Sky and Discovery Plus. We are currently in production with two new series for BBC One and Two.

This is an opportunity to work alongside Duncan Gray, Twenty Six 03's Founder, and Antonia Hurford-Jones, the company's Managing Director, to help create the next raft of shows to produce here in Gateshead, as well drive the company's social media presence.

The successful candidate must be a dynamic digital native and have a keen sense of fun and an inquisitive mind. They must enjoy and have a good knowledge of a broad range of content across the landscapes of television, social media, podcasts and film. They must be a good communicator and be comfortable picking up the phone and talking to people about their stories.

This role is initially a fixed contract of 20 weeks with the possibility to extend. The candidate must be able to work from the Gateshead office.

Key Skills required:

- An ability to shoot video on basic cameras
- Editing ability on Premier Pro or similar
- Knowledge and experience of generative AI to create compelling visuals
- Experience of Photoshop etc to create eye catching pitch decks
- An ability to write punchy copy to sell and explain an idea

Please apply by sending your CV and any examples of relevant work to jobs@twentysix03.com.

Twenty Six 03 is an inclusive employer and welcome applications from individuals from diverse and under-represented backgrounds and are committed to providing a creative environment for all. If you have any queries regarding reasonable adjustments or access requirements please contact jobs@twentysix03.com.