

Ryhope Engines Museum

Ryhope Engines Museum is located on Waterworks Road in Ryhope, approximately 3 miles south of Sunderland city centre. The museum occupies the historic Ryhope Pumping Station, built in 1868, and is a Grade II listed building and Scheduled Ancient Monument. The site features impressive Victorian industrial architecture, original working beam engines, historic boilers, a blacksmith's forge and a distinctive chimney, making it particularly suitable for period drama, industrial heritage productions and historical filming. The museum is accessible via the B1522, with free on-site parking, while Sunderland city centre provides rail and bus connections.
